

(M/F/D) TECHNICAL SALES CONSULTANT HUNGARY

You carry out these tasks professionally:

- Technical advice and support for our wholesale partners and commercial customers
- Development of existing and establishment of new customer relationships
- Practical product demos on construction sites
- Organization and implementation of product trainings
- Implementation of sales-promoting activities and campaigns
- Embody our brand

What you bring with you:

- Construction engineering or construction trade education
- Several years of professional experience in construction
- Strong customer and service orientation
- Commercial understanding
- Confident demeanor and strong communication skills
- High quality awareness
- Enthusiasm for dealing with people
- Excellent Hungarian language skills

This is our offer:

-  In-depth training in a well-coordinated team
-  Professional working environment, extensive support from our office team
-  Excellent working atmosphere in a global family-owned company
-  High degree of personal responsibility and creative freedom
-  Company car for private use

For this position, we offer a market-standard, performance-based salary that corresponds to your qualifications.

If you are interested in a long-term collaboration in this important area of our company, we look forward to receiving your detailed application including a photo via our homepage on the careers page, under the APPLY NOW button, or directly by email to: personal@ardex.at.

